About RMA24

Welcome to the buildup:
strong foundations for better health

Garramilla (Darwin) 23–26 OCT 2024

Co-hosted by the Australian College of Rural and Remote Medicine (ACRRM) and the Rural Doctors Association of Australia (RDAA), the annual Rural Medicine Australia (RMA) conference brings together a global community of students, doctors-in-training, Rural Generalists, educators, academics, and rural consultant specialists to celebrate a shared passion for delivering safe, culturally appropriate, and consistent healthcare to rural and remote communities.

RMA24 will be held at the Darwin Convention Centre on Larrakia Country in Garramilla (Darwin) from Thursday 24 to Saturday 26 October 2024 with the popular conference Welcome Reception taking place on Wednesday 23 October 2024.

This year's conference embraces the theme, 'Welcome to the buildup: strong foundations for better health'. Acknowledging the expanding focus and opportunities in rural and remote healthcare, the connection to country during the pre-monsoonal season and the dedication of delegates to providing exceptional healthcare.

Across three dynamic days, attendees will engage with compelling speakers, partake in hands-on workshops, hone their clinical skills, connect with leading figures in rural and remote medicine, and contribute to pivotal discussions shaping the future of healthcare.

Partner with the most anticipated rural medicine event of the year.

RMA24 is the must-attend conference for anyone passionate about improving the lives of regional, rural and remote communities. This event will host delegates from around the globe, making it the perfect platform to connect, learn, and grow. Don't miss out on the chance to be part of the premier rural medicine event of 2024!
